

Missouri Accounting Educators' Faculty Directory

10-30-2023

Each school's directory listing includes only full-time faculty members teaching Accounting courses plus the Dean and Chairperson. It does not include other non-Accounting faculty even though they may be members of the Department.

The columns are as follows:

Name Rank School-Phone E-Mail Area Degr/Date/School CIA CMA CPA Start

$ next to a Dean or Chairperson indicates "Acting"

& represents a CPA or CA * represents a CMA # represents a CIA

For the Chairperson, the title and rank are:

C	Chairperson	D	Director	H	Head
Pr	Professor	Ac	Associate	As	Assistant

A person's E-Mail address is a combination of their name in the E-Mail column plus the school's email node in the second line of the school address. A "+" in a person's e-mail indicates a last name too long to fit in the column.

The degree column represents the highest earned degree or "all but dissertation," date received, and school. A "." after the date of a doctorate indicates a doctoral concentration in Accounting from a US on-campus AACSB school.

The start column is for the month/year of beginning full-time employment at that school.

The area column is for the person's teaching/research interests.

The larger business schools usually have several departments such as Accounting, Finance, Management, and Marketing. Economics is part of the business college about half the time. Smaller schools may have only one business department composed of many business sub-disciplines.

The Dean of a business school is usually selected by the university's administration in consultation with the school's business faculty.

The Chairperson is usually selected by the Dean in consultation with the department's faculty.

Faculty usually have three major responsibilities: teaching, research, and service. Research becomes more important the higher the research classification/status of a school. Faculty at the highest status schools usually teach two courses each semester/quarter; increasing to three and then four courses per academic period as the school's status decreases. Those lower status schools are primarily teaching focused.

Permanent faculty usually begin as Assistant Professors and are promoted to Associate Professor after five or six years. Promotion to Professor is dependent on their research and service efforts. Previous faculty appointments and performance at other schools may be counted for promotion and tenure at subsequent schools. Scholarship and research productivity become more important the higher the school's status. Tenure decisions are usually made and granted after six successful years. Instructors, Lecturers, etc. are usually one-year appointments without tenure but are usually reappointed each year.

Permanent faculty usually have an earned doctorate. Earned doctorates in accounting usually take four or five years after receiving a master's degree. The process includes completing academic courses, passing a comprehensive examination, and authoring a dissertation under a major Professor. There is not an overabundance of accounting doctorates, especially in the audit, tax, AIS, and accounting analytics subdisciplines of accounting. There may exist an oversupply of faculty in the financial accounting subdiscipline. Smaller schools have difficulty hiring faculty with accounting doctorates because many are one-dimensional and are primarily researchers (especially those who do not have professional experience and qualifications (e.g., CPA, CMA, CIA, CISA, CFE, etc.)).
